
Game annotation

Posted by dwv16 - 2007/06/01 15:12

I'm annotating my current games with Sciurus and Ben, and will do the same if I play anyone else. I will post them as the games are completed. If this doesn't improve my play perhaps it will corrupt the play of my opponents who read them. :)

=====

Re:Game annotation

Posted by Sciurus - 2007/06/01 15:35

dwv16:

lol. I have heard of people who are afraid of making their games available because future opponents might learn something about their weak spots. I never heard about anybody using annotations as psychological "weapon", though ;-)

I really think that annotating my own games is probably the most efficient way to improve. And if we read each others annotations we can learn from each other.

=====